Headteacher: Mr G Green

A Level Drama and Theatre studies

What will I need to study this course?

You need at least a grade 4 in GCSE English. It's helpful if you have studied GCSE Drama, but it's not necessary.

What will I study?

- Component 1: Theatre Workshop

You'll re-imagine a text in the style of a chosen theatre practitioner.

- Component 2: Text in Action

You will create two performances. One is a piece you make up from a prompt given by Eduqas, and the other is from a text you choose. Both performances will be influenced by a theatre practitioner you choose.

- Component 3: Text in Performance

This is a written exam. You will study and explore the plays 'Home I'm Darling and Brief Encounter' followed by 'The Book of Dust'. You'll learn about acting, directing, and stage design.

How is the course assessed?

Unit 1: Assessed by your performance and coursework, marked by your tutor.

Unit 2: Performance exam, marked by an external examiner.

Unit 3: Written exam paper.

Where next?

This course can lead to studying Drama, Theatre Studies, and Performing Arts at university. It can also help you in careers in the Performing Arts industry. The skills you learn can complement other subjects and are useful for building confidence and improving presentation skills for various careers.
